Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-9, 36 and 37, drawn to managing data maintenance tasks, classified in class 717, subclass 103.
 - II. Claims 10-15 and 39-44, drawn to generating data maintenance tasks, classified in class 717, subclass 121.
 - III. Claims 16-21, drawn to a GUI for managing data maintenance tasks across multiple applications, classified in class 717, subclass 132.
 - IV. Claims 22-27, drawn to centrally managing the creation of tasks, classified in class 717 subclass 102.
 - V. Claims 28-29 and 45-46, drawn to populating task data fields, classified in class 717, subclass 110.
 - Vi. Claims 30-35 and 47-49, drawn to automatically generating and performing tasks, classified in class 717, subclass 106.
2. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I, II, III, IV, V and IV are directed to related features of managing maintenance tasks; however, the tasks of invention I are directed toward managing distributed applications; invention II is directed toward generating data maintenance tasks, as specified above; invention III is drawn to a GUI for managing tasks; invention IV is drawn to centrally managing the creation of tasks; invention V is directed toward populating task data fields; while, invention VI is directed toward automatically generating and performing tasks and each are classified in different areas and therefore each require different searches and considerations. The related inventions are distinct if: (1) the inventions as claimed are either not capable of use together or can have a materially different design, mode of operation, function, or effect; (2) the inventions do not overlap in scope, i.e., are mutually exclusive; and (3) the inventions as claimed are not obvious variants. See MPEP § 806.05(j). In the instant case, the inventions as claimed can have a materially different design, mode of operation, function, or effect, as indicated by their different fields of search and consideration requirements.

Furthermore, the inventions as claimed do not encompass overlapping subject matter and there is nothing of record to show them to be obvious variants.
